“Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession.” Psalm 2:8

“As religious aggression subverts the liberties of our nation, those who would stand for freedom of conscience will be placed in unfavorable positions. For they own sake, they should, while they have opportunity become intelligent in regard to disease, its causes, prevention and cure.

And those who do so will find a field of labor anywhere.”

E.G. White, Counsels on Health, 506

III. VALUES

a. Values that form the foundation of our organization

b. Organization beliefs about each value

Personal Values

“We believe in values based on biblical principles namely: truthfulness, integrity, transparency, freedom of expression, freedom of conscience, freedom of religion, upholding all the biblical statutory laws and sanctuary teaching.”

“We believe in educational values based on health principles such as: character development, knowledge of anatomy (body structure), physiology (body functions) for the well-being of the body, the brain nerves and the mind by applying and teaching the 8 Laws of Health, principles of nutrition and natural ways of caring for the body in case of sickness.”

Relational Affirmation

“We believe that all levels of society are worthy of our organization services: poor or rich alike, healthy or sick, addicts, prison inmates, schools, churches, persons of all religions, non-believers, relating to all by applying the personal values expressed above.”

Relational Involvement

“We believe in being involved and reaching to all these levels of society for the past 39 years, continuing to apply and improve basic personal values and educational knowledge.”

Relational Empowerment

“We believe in offering training, true education and support to all these different levels of society, everywhere, since health and well-being touch all levels of humanity and by reflecting more and more the basic values, principles and talents to uphold and encourage all.”

Organizational Values

“We believe in the objects of our organization that mandates us to meet professional on-the-job training requirements, mentorship, administration, community services, educational health lifestyle programs, entrepreneurship, self-development and self-employment through the venues of vegan restaurants and health centers in the cities and health centers in the country.”
